For confidential paternity, maternity, or relationship testing, as well as specialty tests, contact us today at (800) 219-4362. With over 4 centers in the Houston area and more than 2,000 nationwide, we're one of the largest networks of testing labs in the country. Our DNA tests boast a remarkable accuracy rate - 99.99% positive, 0% negative. In most cases, only a father-child pair needs to be tested, with no minimum age limit for children. Even if they can't be in the same state, our centers allow easy online scheduling. We offer same-day appointments at most locations and convenient in-home testing kits with simple instructions. While these tests are less court-admissible than lab results, they're accurate and painless when performed correctly. We strive to be the most affordable provider of court admissible DNA testing in Houston, offering flexible payment options including a payment plan. We accept major debit/credit cards, cashier's checks, money orders, or pre-paid gift cards for discreet payments. Our services are available Monday through Friday 8am-7pm and Saturday 9am-3pm. Please note that walk-ins are not accepted without prior scheduling. Having biological parents can be an irreplaceable gift for children, but conversely, kids who don't know their birth parents may struggle with feeling a sense of belonging anywhere. One expert suggests that these children often have trouble feeling comfortable in any situation, which can impact their emotional well-being and even cognitive abilities. Knowing one's biological parent, even if it's not possible to have a relationship with them, can help children feel more grounded and secure in the world. A complete medical history is crucial for children to know their family's health risks, which can be lifesaving. By tracing patterns of disorders among relatives, healthcare professionals can determine whether an individual or future generations may be at risk of developing certain conditions. This knowledge can inform treatment decisions and help identify potential problems early on. A family medical history can also reveal information about genetic disorders like cystic fibrosis and sickle cell disease. A Paternity Test conducted in our center provides conclusive proof of a relationship between a child and their biological parent, which can bring peace of mind to parents and resolve relational strife. In some cases, this knowledge can even prevent disputes over child support, as knowing the true father or mother can help establish a child's eligibility for financial support. Don't deny your children the information they need to understand their family history and reduce their risk of health problems. Give them the gift of knowing their full medical history and providing them with peace of mind. Given article text here The decision to award financial aid to a child can be influenced by various factors, including the presence of conclusive proof regarding paternity. In some cases, a mother may deliberately exclude her child from having contact with their father, even when the father desires involvement in his child's life. This action can stem from a desire for control or a wish to spite the father. As a result, the father may miss out on unique and pivotal moments in their child's life. In contrast, obtaining a legally binding paternity test can empower fathers with rights to interact with their children. These tests are essential, as they provide assurance that mothers will abide by the results.
